

Mobile Security eSummit - June 10, 2020

10:30 AM

Mobile Security eSummit opens!

11:00 AM – 11:45 AM

Keynote: The Explosion Of Corporate Telecommuting Translates Into A Nightmarish Mobile Endpoint Mess

Jeffrey Ingalsbe is the CISO for financial firm Flexible Plan Investments. But before he took on that CISO role, he spent almost eight years at the Ford Motor Company in an IT cybersecurity group, specializing in Threat modeling projects of strategic importance. He argues that, when it comes to mobile cybersecurity, controlling the endpoint has proven to be the most challenging. Ingalsbe encourages CISOs to do a lot more team integration, something he said is often handled poorly today. He is also worried about the disjointed nature of Android and iOS when it comes to security patches.
